A WORKING BIBLIOGRAPHY ON GEOGRAPHIC AND PSYCHOLOGICAL PERCEPTION AND RELATED SUBJECTS

by

Stanley R. Lieber
Department of Geography
University of Iowa
Iowa City, Iowa 52240

Individuals working in the research area of Environment and Man, Consumer Behavior, Decision Science, Marketing, and other disciplines in which the unit of analysis is the individual have generally acknowledged that man's attitudes and perceptions influence his behavior in space and decision making situations. The primary purpose of this bibliography is to introduce several different streams of thought on strategies for modelling perception. Another focus of the bibliography is on the rudiments of measurement problems associated with perception and cognitive organization.

Major areas of study include; search behavior, cognitive organization, information integration, space preference structures, decision making, mental maps and man and environment interactions.

Since the underlying focus of the bibliography is methodological rather than descriptive, verbal descriptions of perceptions have been deleted.
